

BURY COLLEGE

NEWS FLASH

January 2022

LAMBS:

Little lambs' children have enjoyed lots of sensory winter activities and messy play. We have been focusing on heuristic exploration introducing a new calming teepee and lots of new sensory resources. The children have really engaged and enjoyed learning through their senses. In the new year we are going to be focusing on physical development offering lots of climbing, rolling, and balancing, supporting new walkers and encouraging younger babies with core strength.

DUCKS:

The ducklings have been working hard with toilet training and we are so proud of everyone's progress. We will be continuing to focus with this in the new year and encouraging children to become more confident in their self-care routines.

The children have also enjoyed learning about the changing season and exploring the natural environment especially the snow we had! We have enjoyed lots of winter crafts and getting ready for the festive period, singing Christmas songs, and reading Christmas stories.

In the new year we will be focusing on physical development using our fine motor skills practicing mark making and enjoying Forest school activities. Our new colour of the month will be white.

FARMERS:

The Christmas play was a great success and given how young the children are they worked so hard to practice the songs! The children really enjoyed learning about the Christmas story, and we hope you all enjoyed the play.

We have enjoyed lots of winter and Christmas crafts using baubles to paint, making tree decorations, using twigs to decorate our own Christmas tree, and writing letters to Santa!

In the new year we will be focusing on school readiness and hope to invite parents in for a school readiness workshop. The farmers children have been working hard recognizing and forming letters and numbers in their environment and we will continue to support this.
